[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Massachusetts

[illegible], Nov 1.—The Tribune's special says that chief interest in the Massachusetts campaign is in Butler's district—the [illegible] much [illegible] is felt by Republicans about his re-election despite Adams' candidacy and [illegible] of [illegible] supporting Baker. Other districts are doubtful, but in the [illegible] daily losing and Hoar gaining ground [illegible] more violent in his speeches as [illegible] more certain. An important [illegible] will be published to-morrow [illegible] authorized by the President or some important facts in Butler's recent [illegible] Hoar. Address to Republicans

The following is published to-day to the Republicans of the United States:

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE,
Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, Nov 2.

There is now a spontaneous and enthusiastic uprising of the Northern people within the last few days evinced by the recent elections. We at the headquarters have no doubt about the election of Hayes and Wheeler by a large majority of electoral votes. The evasive and valueless promise of Tilden with the stereotyped and reluctant approval forced by him from a few Southern Democrats not to press the rebel war claims for loss or damage to property, although still demanding payment to rebels as well as loyal persons of about $200,000,000 claimed in their bill before Congress for supplies furnished and taken for use and occupation of property, have failed to produce conviction in the face of the overwhelming evidence of their contrary purpose and have alarmed instead of quieting the Southern people. The imminent danger to the public credit and to reviving commerce and manufactures is realized. It has aroused the merchants and the business men of New York and of the country. The violation over nearly half the territory of the nation by intimidation and murder of the Republican principle that the ballot shall be freely chosen and safely cast is rallying a united North to put down promptly this new Southern rebellion. With this uprising of Northern sentiment, every Northern State will probably be carried for Hayes. The frauds in New York city will be prevented and the Democratic majority kept down to such an amount that the large Republican majority elsewhere will not fail to overcome it and secure a decided majority in the State for Hayes and Wheeler. The three Pacific coast States and New Jersey are believed to be surely Republican and there is good fighting chance for Indiana, while information from North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana show that in spite of the murderous opposition of Tilden Democrats, those Southern States will give a majority for Hayes and Wheeler. The systematic and persistent boastings from Tilden headquarters in New York are only desperate expedients to avert inevitable defeat. Republicans of the country have only to perform their full duty and every man go early to the polls and the majority for Hayes will be overwhelming.

CHANDLER, Chairman

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Belgrade Nov 2.—The Servian government has instructed General Tchernayeff to send a flag of truce to Abdul Kerim, the Turkish commander in chief, to inquire whether he has been notified of the armistice

London Nov 2.—There are various reports concerning Turkey's reply in regard to the armistice. Reuter's telegram from Belgrade says Servia has accepted two months armistice which has been agreed to by Turkey as already announced

Vienna Nov 2.—The Tagblatt in a special edition publishes a dispatch from a correspondent at Belgrade, according to which the Porte is willing to accept an armistice of any length but demands information beforehand as to the conditions of the peace

Latest news from Constantinople is a telegram dated this evening which says the Porte's reply is still unknown but is expected to be favorable. There was another extraordinary council to day. The ambassadors are now assembled at Gen Ignatieff's residence. It is reported the Turks have entered Deligrad

The Standard's Belgrade dispatch declares the statement fully confirmed that the Porte has agreed to two months' armistice with power to renew it for six weeks. The same dispatch reports that Kraisch[illegible]natz is in flames.

The Post says we understand the Russian ultimatum is couched in peremptory terms and is accompanied by angry language. The Sultan is required to sign the armistice for six weeks or two months and the Porte is informed that its conduct in continuing hostilities while negotiations are pending is strongly resented

St Petersburg Nov 2.—Official telegrams received here from Ignatieff announces that the Porte has accepted [illegible] armistice beginning Nov 1st and has ordered immediate cessation of hostilities

London Nov 3.—The Post publishes in official form the following paragraph: Turkey having accepted the armistice, we understand Russia has taken immediate steps to press forward negotiations of arrangements for a [illegible] pending question on the basis of English proposals. The Post also states that official investigation shows only 3,100 persons killed by the Turks in Bulgaria. A telegram from Constantinople says it is believed that the conference will assemble shortly

A dispatch to the Standard from Paris and one to the Daily Telegraph from Constantinople also state that the conference will be held, and adds that the representations of the Porte will be admitted to it by some such [illegible] that described by the London Post according to which the six powers will deliberate on the forms and Turkish representatives will only take a seat when results are to be declared

Belgrade Nov 2.—It is officially announced that both armies will retain the positions they now hold

London Nov 2.—The Times dispatch from Belgrade confirms reports that a two months' truce [illegible] has been agreed. It is also stated the Turks have entered and burned Krusevac. [illegible] may be the result of neglect [illegible] permanent peace [illegible] Russian [illegible] not likely to [illegible] fight for [illegible]

The Times leading article says there is every reason to believe the armistice is already agreed upon

WM. M. EVARTS SPEECH

New York Nov 2.—The Great Hall of Cooper Institute was [illegible] last evening [illegible] bankers, merchants and other business men of both parties to protest [illegible] the Democratic [illegible] regard [illegible] for Hayes and Wheeler. The building was crowded with a vast concourse of people and the platform was occupied by well known citizens of both parties. The meeting was called to order by J. Lindley [illegible] who made a brief address and said that this great gathering meant that business men of the city were alarmed at the prospect of seeing a [illegible] party in power [illegible] large sums from the Treasury for losses incurred by them during the late war at the solicitation of many of its foremost citizens. Mr Evarts had consented to address the people on the issues of the present campaign and the prospects which are in store for the country in case of the election of the Democratic party. He then introduced the orator of the evening. Mr Evarts on coming forward was greeted with a great ovation which lasted fully five minutes.

The speaker [illegible] said that there is a time for everything, a time for every purpose under heaven, a time to keep still and a time to speak. The American people believe that a Presidential campaign is a time to speak of the interests at stake turning on the vote of next Tuesday. The subsequent results to the country justifies a man with the ear of the country in remaining silent. The real question to be answered is to which party you will entrust your interests for the next four years and where is the safety of the Republic most assured. To the office seekers and office holders the questions mean only place and position and when only these are at issue the public peace and security is not much disturbed. But when questions enter into the canvass touching the integrity of the government and the permanence and welfare of the State, their gravity overwhelms all other considerations and will draw at no man's bidding. The people of the United States [illegible] knew about as much about American politics as the financial agents in Wall street of European houses and are better custodians of their interests and privileges than any one else. The American people are slow to believe evil of their country men as was shown during the late war, but we do not want two such eye openers as that in one generation. [Prolonged applause.] Sometimes these issues in a campaign are settled until too late and the nation has to fight its way back to the place of safety which it silently surrendered. In this canvass there was some danger of this but the people have been awakened in time to avert the results. Of Mr Tilden's abilities he would not speak nor of his services performed to the city when fighting the Democracy or in the State when diminishing the farmers taxes. But there is grave room to doubt whether Tilden at the White House, auditing the war claims of the Southern States would have the effect of reducing the taxes of the country. [Applause.] Governor Hayes although somewhat advanced in years before he became prominent in the eyes of his countrymen is a gentleman of culture, education and bravery, and compare for a moment his war record with Tilden's! [Cheers.] How long do you suppose it would have taken to crush out the rebellion had it been fought out on Tilden's line. When the country was in need and in peril he did not hurry to its aid with his gold or his sword. There can be no greater honor than to die for one's country and we find Gov Hayes leaving home, family and friends and buckling on his armor in defense of his country. So much for candidates and now for the questions at issue. The merchants and bankers want to know the value of their securities will be after the election of Tilden or Hayes. When they begin to doubt it is time for poor people to move. When they see their savings shrinking out of sight and when a pall is thrown over the public mind then comes a panic, crash, ruin and collapse. Many will never rise therefrom. If such things take place it would never restore the lost property and be only a poor satisfaction to the losers to know that Mr August Belmont thought there was no danger of such a state of things. Where has the statesmanship of the Democratic party ever been shown? Look at Grant and the bold policy pursued by the Republican party after establishing out the war insisting on even the income tax and other taxes to reduce the debt of the nation. With $1,650,000 in debt we can face the criticism of Europe and be prepared for even the emergency of another war

The next question at issue was resumption of specie payment. The Republican party decided to resume specie payment in 1876, and to day that is the law of the land. Previous to Mr Tilden entering as a Presidential candidate he thought it was a good law but now he thinks the naming of a specified day is an insurmountable obstacle to specie payment, that the day would be long distant in the future when the specie payment would be resumed if the Democratic candidates were elected, was the belief of every man of sense. The result of Mr Tilden's long unmarried life is probably due to his naming the day, but it was so far off that the length of time confused and embarrassed him. [Laughter.] This Democratic regard for rag money he regarded as the greatest political effrontery. He had read Tilden's letter of accept[illegible] backwards and forwards but could find no signs of specie payment about it.

Civil service reform was the next topic. Gov Hayes had pledged himself that the civil service should be reformed and he much preferred to trust the Republicans to do it than the Democrats. Compare the Democratic budget of $60,000,000 before the war and the number of peculations and stealings which took place with the Republican budget of [illegible] and handling three hundred millions after the war and what are the results?

The next topic he would speak of was the treatment of the question of the pacification of the South. The pacification of the Democratic party has never done anything except to protract [illegible] and embarrass the war and this is the party that seeks to gain control of the government. There is a duty to which white men can never be recreant unless they admit that the freedmen are better fitted to govern them than themselves and that one thing which would deserve the curse of God and man would be the deserting of them and leaving them a prey to the rebels. [Cheers.] Would it be wise to trust the country to this Democratic party? He thought not. It is wholly undistinguishable from the very party we expelled from power a few years past at the expense of so much blood and treasure. The question is is the Democratic party as now constituted and led the same as when James Buchanan was its President

The speaker here drew a contrast between Tilden and Buchanan and said that there was an odor of devotionality around Mr Tilden. He then reviewed Gov Tilden's action in 1860 and read an extract from the letter on the question of power of a state to secede

The speaker then gave a vivid description of the great uprising of the people of this city in 1860 and the monster meetings which were held and added that Mr Tilden never attended them or displayed any patriotism. If Mr Tilden is elected the men who will fill Congress will carry through their bills and measures, although the pretense is made he would veto all bills on Southern war claims. Why they would break the President and break the veto. But they are bone of his bone and flesh of his flesh

Mr Evarts wound up with a splendid peroration in which he said he believed that in 1776 a great and mighty nation was born—the United States including South Carolina. That the votes of this free people might elevate Tilden to the Presidential chair on the 7th of November, but until then he would never believe it. He was greeted with tremendous applause as he retired from the platform

Fraudulent Registration

San Francisco Nov 2.—Registration which has been very active for some time past is now falling off [illegible]. The number of county transfers is nearly double that of previous years. Regarding illegal registration Federal officers are after colonists and mean to take them all in if possible, before the day of election. So far over 100 bona fide cases have been worked up and preparations made for their capture. Yesterday forenoon warrants for the arrest of eighteen of the criminals were made out the office of the U S district attorney and placed in the hands of the U S marshal and his deputies. Some of them were gathered in last evening and the balance will be cornered this morning. Owing to the difficulty in finding these colonists it has been decided to arrest these fraudulent voters in small batches. Other warrants will be made out to day and the work of arresting will go on till the closing of the polls on the day of election. Arrangements have been made to have a preliminary examination of the first batch of arrests made before judges of the U S district and circuit courts instead of the U S commissioner so that if declared guilty the offenders can be bound over at once and be made an example of

Closing Scenes in the Presidential Canvass

San Francisco, Nov 2.—The Hayes invincibles held a business meeting this evening at which over $1,500 was subscribed to defray the expenses of the closing parade of the campaign next Monday evening. Considerable opposition has existed in certain quarters to such a demonstration many believing that the money so spent could be otherwise applied to better effect but the great majority of the organization were decidedly in favor of the movement and are working with a will to make it the finest turnout of the campaign. All ward clubs and other political bodies and citizens at large are invited to take a position in the ranks, and no pains will be spared to get up an imposing demonstration. The Invincibles are somewhat exercised in mind over the recent rumor that their uniforms and other properties had been attached for debt and state that the bills due for such purposes were all paid in full early this month

The hearing of John H. Lick's petition to be granted letters of administration has been set for the 20th inst

The recent action taken by John H Lick son of the late James Lick through his attorneys, McAllister & Bergin to procure letters of administration on his father's estate has been viewed by many as a hostile measure to the Lick trustees, and one intended to force that body to come to his terms of settlement. The friends of Mr Lick confess that the step is designed to be hostile that it is the first step toward the breaking up of the deceased's philanthropic trusts. As James Lick left however a private estate independent of that included in the deed of trust the application for letters of administration was necessary on the part of the son to settle it up. Negotiations have been pending between the board of Lick trustees and John H Lick with a view to bringing about a satisfactory settlement ever since that gentleman arrived here from the East a few days after his father's death. Up to the filing of the application for letters these negotiations were progressing favorably and so far as the trustees and their attorneys know nothing has yet occurred to prevent an amicable settlement being consummated on the basis on which these negotiations have been conducted

AN ENGLISHMAN'S LETTER ON THE POLITICAL SITUATION

A young Englishman who came to this country a month since "to look it over" with a view of making it a home for his father and himself, writes home as follows:

NEW YORK, Sept 10 1876

Dear Father: I reached here on the 1st ultimo and shall embark for home again by the next steamer from this date. You will doubtless be surprised that I have so soon decided that this is no place for us. I assure you that not ten years additional stay could more certainly satisfy my mind that this is no country for honest men. You will be greatly shocked, I know and yet I have no hesitation in asserting that this is a nation of rogues!

My dear father it has always been a favorite maxim of yours—"Like master, like man;" and surely the converse of this—"Like man like master," must be equally true. Hence, to follow up a similar parallel, you will agree with me that honest men would not voluntarily select a scamp to regulate their national affairs and that if a prime rogue was picked out to be inducted into the highest office in their gift a precious set of rascals must be doing it.

This is precisely what the people are engaged in here. In view of President Grant's term of office drawing near to a close, the two great parties of the country have each nominated a man for that important position—the most elevated in the government. You would naturally expect that the people of a great nation would be sure to pick out the very best man to stand before the world as their chief. So far from this it grieves me to have to state that both sides have selected the primest scoundrels to be found!

A fellow named Tilden—a low villain who used to follow the degraded business of "wrecking railroads"—is one of these. By the way, I will here remark that I cannot quite make out the nature of this villainous pursuit—whether it is similar to the old cut throat business of vessel wrecking, or still worse. But from the intense disgust with which it is alluded to by the opposite press, it is evident to my mind that he must have been in the habit of luring railroad trains to destruction by false signals and then, after butchering the helpless and wounded passengers robbing everything he could from the wreck.

In this manner he amassed such an immense fortune that he was in the habit of stowing it away in "barrels." And now to prove that the mass of the people are of such a low grade of morals that they can be bought up like so many cattle this unprincipled rascal is shipping those barrels all over the country to buy up votes.

This is almost incredible but to prove there can possibly be no mistake about it I will mention that it is the leading opposition journals which assert that those barrels of Tilden's money are actually sent into the doubtful districts to buy the people of their own side.

But this is not the worst. This scamp Tilden besides being a general rascal from his boyhood up has been in the habit of swearing false oaths and perjuring himself to defraud the government as a pitiful means of saving a little tax on his enormous income!

I turn from this sickening exhibit only to find that the other side albeit righteously indignant at the moral turpitude of their political opponents in putting up such an unmitigated villain for the highest office in their gift have also put forward a scamp of the first water—a small [illegible] who when he was a general in the army used to sneak around in the night like a ghoul robbing the pockets of dying soldiers. He was also like his opponent Tilden given to false swearing [illegible] cheating the government out of its just share of his income tax and worst of all this General Hayes actually permits strong traces of undoubted insanity to be traced [illegible] members of his family [illegible] grandmother. I hear you say my honored father, Where are the proofs of this [illegible] a nation's disgrace [illegible]

[illegible] that these two Presidential [illegible] are just the low scamps [illegible]

It [illegible] heart [illegible] but when [illegible] of the country send special [illegible] to search [illegible] reputation of [illegible] and triumphantly [illegible] from the legal records [illegible] newspapers would [illegible] of an honest [illegible]

Hence dear father as the entire nation is nearly evenly divided in its support of these two consummate rascals and as each side is almost [illegible] each [illegible] candidate is [illegible] think they can be any better themselves

THE OREGON PENITENTIARY

A BATTLE WHEREIN THE WRITER DISCUSSETH OF [illegible] AND SOME OTHER THINGS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Soon after Wm H Watkinds was appointed Superintendent of the Oregon Penitentiary he ordered a large blank book from San Francisco with proper headings for a State prison record. To feed his vanity he had W H Watkinds, Superintendent Oregon Penitentiary printed on its back in flaming gilt letters. Into this book Mr Watkinds had transcribed all the back record matter of the penitentiary from the time of its organization. The transcribing was done by a convict and that he was a master penman, his work well attests.

The entries in the old prison books had been made by different men at such times as record matter presented itself. Different pens were used and as many shades of ink. Many pages are blotted and all are soiled from long use and much turning

The new book is a beauty in itself. The same shade of ink occurs all the way through. The same skillful hand guided the pen along each line. A mistake of the pen was erased and corrected. All blots and stains were removed. What wonder, then, if the contrast between the old and the new records is very marked!

And this is the way Mr Watkinds does it: Each rising grand jury for Marion county is whirled out to the penitentiary in a splendid turnout at such a rate and in such a manner as to daze the brain of many of the honest yeomanry that go to make up this court of indictments. After Mr Watkinds has shown them over the prison grounds through the work shops into and through all the various apartments of the penitentiary he leads them into the dispensary where the records are kept. Spreading out the old records to the gaze of the already bewildered jurors, he exclaims: "That is the way they kept books," and knocking his hat slightly back upon his wonderful head, he takes a few strides across the room. Having done so, so often before he knows just where and when to strike. The new book is now taken down from its special resting place and opened, with the remark, "And this is the way we keep books, gentlemen!"

How contemptible and mean to appropriate to himself the laudations that so justly belong to another and that other a convict! A man that will rob a convict of that which is rightfully his, in order to adorn himself, is unworthy the trust and confidence of any honorable man. "Like begets like," says an old adage. Mr Watkinds is L F Grover's begotten or Grover is his. We care not which is the offspring, it is all the same to the taxpayers

It was our misfortune some four years ago, to be employed at the State prison. We learned much while there that we wish every man in the State of Oregon knew. We learned that a large proportion of the people's money, paid from the penitentiary fund, was poured into the laps of prostitutes and into the low dives of Salem, thereby fostering and supporting those whose crimes have been and are such a burden to the taxpayers of the State of Oregon from year to year to year. Jo Osburn of Champoeg was the only officer under Watkinds that did not gamble. Of the guards, all were gamblers save Jackson an Englishman. I knew of officers and guards to be engaged at a game of cards in the officers' quarters for money on Sunday, while I D Driver was preaching to the convicts in the hall below. The query naturally arises, "Why does Watkinds retain and employ men to do work at the penitentiary who are known to be devoid of every trait of character that goes to make a moral, upright man?" Is it because "Like begets like?"

Don't throw your boots against the wall!

Yours, very truly,
J J BLEVANS.

BIG GUNS.

The New York Times' London correspondent has this account of the last triumph of invention in heavy artillery:

It is natural that at this time people here should be interested in the latest monster of artillery. The experiments with the 81-ton gun at Shoeburyness began on Wednesday, and so far as they have gone are regarded as highly satisfactory. There has always been a certain degree of apprehension as to the strength of the weapon, but this seems to be dissipated by the experience which has now been acquired. The gun is planted on the beach at Shoeburyness, which is the eastern peak of Essex jutting out into the German Ocean, and has the whole range of sea in front of it, as well as a stretch of 13,000 yards of sand at low water. The first discharge consisted of a Palliser projectile weighing 1,700 pounds with a charge of 370 pounds of 1.5-inch cube powder, the muzzle being elevated seven degrees by quadrant. The velocity of the shot is estimated at 1,520 feet per second and its motion is wonderfully steady up to the point at which it strikes the ground. The report of the discharge is by no means so loud as was expected, but it has rather a startling effect on those in its neighborhood, something like an electric shock. At the end of 11.3 seconds there was far across the water what seemed like a great explosion—a vast mass of sand and water being thrown up by the blow of the shot. The actual distance traversed was rather more than two miles and a half, and this was the range of the first "graze," as it is called, its extreme range, which is estimated at from 12,000 to 15,000 yards, not being then in question. The other four rounds were fired under the same conditions as the first, the range up to the first graze varying from about 4,680 to 4,699 yards, and the time from 11.2 to 11.4 seconds. The mean range was 4,691 yards. The recoil varied from 3 feet to 7 feet on the level and from 32 to 33 up the incline. The results of this shooting has been summed up by a competent witness as follows: At a range of rather more than two and a half miles the gun being elevated to an angle of seven degrees all the shots would pass through such a doorway as usually belongs to a first-class hotel. The sixth and seventh rounds were fired at one degree of elevation and the distances were 1,096 and 1,060 yards and the time 2.2 seconds. The complete distance traversed by each shot was reckoned at not less than 11,000 yards. Of the experiments next day the general result was a mean range of 3,063 yards and the mean error in direction 1.3 yards. A shot was also fired at an angle of ten degrees which struck its first graze at 6,250 yards, nearly four miles off and the hole or crater made in the sand was 27 feet long, 13 wide, and 9 deep. Yesterday the mean range at three degrees of elevation with ordinary shells was reported to be 2,345 yards, and the mean error 15.8 yards and with Palliser projectiles about 4,700 yards. A good deal of damage has been done to the soldiers huts and other houses at Shoeburyness by the violence of the firing. Some idea of the tremendous forces at work is given by the fact that the weight of the gun carriage and bogies being 126 tons the rate of recoil up the incline is about nine feet per second, the total rise due to the ascending gradient being a foot and a quarter. The projectile is nearly four feet long and weighs three quarters of a ton. It seems from one of the experiments which have been made that the projectile travels faster than the sound of the discharge and of its own movement [illegible] the neighborhood of where it struck [illegible] after it was seen. After a few weeks more the gun will be again removed to Woolwich, where it will be further bored out in the inner part so as to form a powder chamber eighteen inches in diameter

Two parties under the authority of the Surveyor General of Washington Territory are now engaged in surveying the country immediately west of Snake river embracing the Asotin creek, Alpowa creek and uniting with the surveys already made in Palouse section. Many settlers have heretofore gone up on these unsurveyed lands and commenced their cultivation

FRIDAY MORNING NOV [illegible] 1876

A CHANGE WANTED

An argument that is just no argument at all, and yet strangely enough has more general currency than any other that is offered in favor of Tilden's election is that the country needs a change. It is unfortunately the case that all human governments and institutions are tainted with the infirmities of human nature itself, and consequently the country every country always needs a change. To keep pace with the march of improvement in society and the advance of social science, to minister to the increasing wants of a civilization that is all the time growing broader and deeper government must be continually undergoing a change. But this is not the sense in which the demand for a change is urged in favor of the election of Mr Tilden. The character of the man, the history of his party, and the personel of the people with whom this particular argument appears to be the most potent, alike prove that when Tilden's election is urged on the ground of the necessity for "a change" something entirely different from the idea of reform and progress in any legitimate sense, is meant. For several years past Mr Tilden has been playing the role of reformer, and it would be both ungenerous and uncandid to deny to him the credit of having accomplished something for the benefit of the country in that role. His sphere has [illegible] narrow in comparison with that to which he now aspires. Yet in that sphere [illegible] done some good work. When [illegible] swept by the tide of public sentiment which he has never in any case [illegible] strong to withstand—out of the [illegible] ring and into the opposition to [illegible] ring, he gave valuable assistance to those who had from the first led the [illegible] upon that infamous organization. He has also merited the cheerful support which he has received in his endeavors to [illegible] the band of rogues which for a [illegible] time has been in possession of the [illegible] of the State of New York, and by [illegible] the State has been plundered and [illegible] of millions of money. It can not [illegible] fully said that his success in this [illegible] reform has been commensurate [illegible] his opportunity, nor that he has at [illegible] conducted the war against the [illegible] in such a manner as to leave no doubt of the entire disinterestedness of his [illegible] still he has done something towards ridding his State of the canal thieves [illegible] disclosures have opened the [illegible] of the country to a fact of which few [illegible] notion before the nomination of [illegible] It has been shown by irrefragable [illegible] that while his outward and [illegible] conduct was such as pleased, if it [illegible] it to him, the best people of [illegible] he was pursuing, in connection [illegible] not so generally known and [illegible] a course as crooked as that of [illegible] he was prosecuting. His case is not without precedent, of a man [illegible] living by corrupt practices and diverting public attention from himself by [illegible] up a hue and cry against other [illegible]. The change to be secured [illegible] the Government to such a [illegible] hardly such a change as the country [illegible]

[illegible] undesirable does such a change [illegible] election would bring, appear, [illegible] viewed in the light of the history of [illegible] of which he is at once the leader [illegible] representative. To justify this [illegible], it is not necessary to suppose [illegible] Democracy are, as a party, enemies [illegible] Union. It is not even necessary to [illegible] most of those who remained [illegible] party during the war considered [illegible] lution of the Union a less evil [illegible] the prosecution of such a war. [illegible] it is doubtless true that such an [illegible] ption would do them no injustice. [illegible] need be assumed to show that the [illegible] be effected through the election [illegible] would be very far from such [illegible] the country needs, is that the [illegible] the leaders and representatives [illegible] and conscientious men, and [illegible] if they are not such they are [illegible] to be trusted with power. If they [illegible] believe, as they profess to believe, that the whole system of recon[illegible] is wrong, that the financial pol[illegible] of the government is radically wrong [illegible] the amendments to the Constitution [illegible] in principle and oppressive in [illegible] lication, if they conscientiously [illegible] all this, their first, most earnest [illegible] soon as they come into power, [illegible] to right the wrongs, to correct [illegible] evils, to remove the oppressions, to [illegible] the government on such a financial [illegible] as they might think sound. [illegible] short, they would use their [illegible] to undo the country by [illegible] the constitutional amendments [illegible] of existence and leaving the 1,000,000 [illegible] colored people at the mercy of the white-liners, by disorganizing the finances of the country and bankrupting the [illegible], by overturning the system that has built up the credit of the government; and in short by throwing the whole country into confusion panicking all branches of commerce and trade going back to anarchy, with the hope of getting a better start next time. Is that the sort of change the country needs? Can laboring men look such a probability in the face with calmness? Can capital view the approach without nervousness? Can business enterprise commerce contemplate it and not feel intensely anxious?

And who compose the class of persons who base their support of Tilden on this extremely general and indefinite proposition, that the country "needs a change"? All the hungry Democratic office seekers want a change. All the political lobbyists who have been cast off by the Republicans want a change. All the lawless and desperate characters want a change. All the members of the lawless bands that go about murdering men in the South want a change. All the communist organizations who, being too indolent and worthless to acquire property by honest labor declare that "property is robbery" want a change. All the tramps and vagabonds seeing the certainty of their being closely beset, by the laws, when chaos reigns throughout the land, want a change. There is in the country not a single class of people generally considered dangerous to the peace and good order of society but clamors for a change. Is the change which these people can combine to promote as they do now combine to promote the change that would come from electing Tilden such a change as the country needs?

We put it to honest law abiding Democrats men who have families to provide for men who have property men who pursue lawful industry for a livelihood to all men who have a stake in the land whether they are willing to take the risks involved in such a change whether they can afford to take the responsibility of helping to bring about such a change. Their answer they will give when they cast their votes next Tuesday. Let them think of the risks and act carefully.

MR BELLINGER'S CARD

Those who know Hon C P Bellinger chairman of the Democratic state central committee will not hesitate about accepting his card which will be found in this paper as a candid statement of what he supposes to be the fact with respect to the use of money by his party in this election. That he would not countenance the corrupt use of money is too well known by all who are personally acquainted with him to need a card from him. But he speaks of the matter as if the chairman of the central committee were the party and the party could not be making any improper use of money without his knowledge and consent. If we may judge from what we have read and heard of the methods of using money and the persons selected to do it, the real managers of the campaign, who are a very different sort of people from the chairman of their committee—he being merely a figure head—would hardly inform him of their plans in this particular. He is expected to do the legitimate—to make use of the small fund at his disposal in the most high-toned ways and to bear himself as the figure-head of a great reform party should. No doubt he can make a lovely exhibit, if anybody is innocent enough to go to him for one. But it would mean exactly nothing, so far as concerns the question whether local managers of his party, the ward politicians the men who know exactly how to do it, are using money improperly. If there were the least danger that anybody would suppose Mr Bellinger was going into the market to bribe votes, his card would perhaps serve a useful purpose to himself personally. But as people generally know that for the sort of work against which Mr Steel, chairman of the Republican committee, cautions the public, persons holding official relations to the party are not used, but professional bribers and men who associate with the baser sort of people, his card will have no effect in allaying the just apprehension of the people that money is to be used to work up a majority for the Tilden electors. Look at New York, look at Brooklyn, look at Philadelphia, and don't forget to look out for corruption at home.

THE WALLOWA COUNTRY

The work of the commissioners who have been directed to proceed to the Wallowa valley and endeavor to adjust the difficulties between the white settlers and Young Joseph's band of Indians, has been greatly simplified by the labors of Col H Clay Wood, in ascertaining the exact state of the claim of Joseph as a matter of legal right. He gave the subject a very thorough examination last winter, beginning with the first attempt of the Government to reach an understanding with the Nez Perces concerning the occupancy of the country inhabited by them and taking in every fact from that date down which could have a bearing on the question. To these facts he applied the principles laid down by the supreme court of the United States in a number of cases as governing the subject of Indian title or right of occupancy and set forth clearly and with lawyer like conciseness his conclusions of law from the premises. His opinion, which is in the form of a report to General Howard forms a pamphlet of about fifty closely printed pages. Col Wood is a regularly admitted attorney and every page of this pamphlet gives evidence that the habits of military life have not made him any less a lawyer in his mode of handling a legal question. The conclusion at which he arrives is briefly that the Wallowa valley has never been ceded by the Nez Perces to the United States and that hence the Indians of that tribe have yet the right of occupancy, but that there is nothing in the relations of Young Joseph and his band to the rest of the tribe, or to the land in dispute to give him the exclusive right as against the other Nez Perces Indians. The right to extinguish the possessory right of the Indians—which is the only right recognized in them—is in the United States government alone. The extinguishment is a condition precedent to the right of the government to give the land to the settlers. This statement of the situation makes the duty of the commissioners, or rather the limits of their rightful power in the premises, very plain.

Party managers are not to be trusted under strong temptations and with good opportunities for unfair practices. Let the honest voters of all parties who desire a fair election and a pure ballot unite in demanding that none but legal votes be polled and let every [illegible] no matter to what party he belongs be arrested and prosecuted. Let the firm resolve be that no illegal votes shall find its way into the ballot box and that no briber whether he be Republican or Democrat shall go unpunished. There has been [illegible] in both parties here in Portland and there will be again unless [illegible] of honest people.

The President has [illegible] squarely out in a [illegible] of Mr [illegible] against the calumnies of [illegible] of the latter in assailing his [illegible] falsehood with an [illegible] such [illegible] sure. The Republicans deserve defeat for [illegible] him. Wherever the party persists in giving in [illegible] the people ought to repudiate [illegible] promptly. This is the only possible cure for that style of politics.

That is cheering news which Secretary Chandler as Chairman of the Republican National Committee, sends over the wires. But would it not be a good deal better for the Cabinet officers to attend to their official duties and deport themselves in a manner becoming the position they occupy as the highest officers of the Government than for them to be off at New York directing the movements of a party campaign? That is not what Cabinet officers are for if we correctly understand their duties.

An alarming rumor reaches us of a contemplated fraud in Umatilla county. It is reported that the Democrats are preparing to send down a large illegal vote from that county which is to be [illegible] by importations from the Walla Walla valley and by [illegible] the poll books. Honest voters should be on their guard and leave nothing undone that may contribute to a fair election.

George A Steel Esq chairman of the Republican State Central Committee deserves the thanks of all who wish to see a fair election for calling attention [illegible] to the danger of bribery. Let the [illegible] not be unheeded. It is of greater moment that the ballot box be kept free from the corrupting influences of money than that one party or the other win a victory.

Mr J J Curtis declines the Democratic nomination for Treasurer of Cowlitz county W T. Nex.

TO THE PEOPLE OF OREGON.

A paper addressed to the voters of Oregon and signed by Mr Geo A Steel as Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee closes with an appeal to loyal citizens to overthrow with honest loyal votes the money sent, so it is stated to this state to carry it by fraud and corruption. In so far as this statement may imply or be intended to imply that money has been sent into this State, or has been improperly employed or is intended to be so employed within the State by the Democratic party or by any one authorized to act for or in any manner cognizable by the representatives of the party for election purposes it is wholly untrue and without foundation. Not one dollar has been so sent received promised or asked for by the representatives of the party or by any one with their knowledge or authority or with the knowledge or authority of either of them. A detailed statement of the money subscribed collected employed and on hand verified in the most satisfactory manner will be submitted to any person curious in respect of the financial concerns of the Democratic party of this State. Will Mr Steel submit a like statement in behalf of the Republican party? I have no hesitation in expressing the belief that such exhibits if made will show that the evidence of fraud and corruption greatly preponderates against the party which Mr Steel represents.

...ROUS ASSAULT.—At about 4:30 yesterday afternoon a sanguinary fight [illegible] in the low and disreputable saloon at [illegible] of Taylor and Third streets, kept by [illegible] named James Wool. Wednesday after[illegible] evening, Wool had a quarrel with a man named James Buckley about a [illegible], with whom the former indi[illegible] was very intimate. High words and were freely indulged in, but the men [illegible] come to blows. Last evening the [illegible] was renewed, when Wool ordered [illegible] to leave his saloon, a request with [illegible] to comply. Buckley's refu[illegible] led to a rencounter between the men, dur[illegible] he (Buckley) picked up a hatchet [illegible] to be lying conveniently, and [illegible] Wool. He dealt Wool a blow with [illegible] of the murderous implement on the [illegible] part of the neck, cutting a frightful gash [illegible] scalp and fracturing, it is thought, the [illegible]. He then struck his antagonist repeat[illegible] the face with the back of the [illegible], mutilating the flesh in a shocking [illegible]. After inflicting these fearful gashes [illegible], Buckley seemed to realize what [illegible]; for, dropping the hatchet, [illegible] from the scene of what so [illegible] escaped being a murder. The [illegible] given, and the officers began [illegible] the would-be murderer. Buckley [illegible] hauled by Officers Hudson and [illegible] and brought to the city jail, where [illegible] awaiting the result of Wool's in[illegible]. The condition of the wounded man is [illegible] but slender hopes of his re[illegible]. Wool has considerable Cherokee In[illegible] in him, and when not under the [illegible] of liquor is disposed to be very quiet [illegible]. When intoxicated, he is a [illegible] and dangerous man. Buckley [illegible] in the city some time, and has fre[illegible] for being drunk and [illegible], and for his participation in brawls. [illegible] drinking heavily for the past [illegible].

[illegible]'S SPEAKING.—Oro Fino Theater [illegible] filled last evening by a large [illegible] of our respected German citizens [illegible] of the public meeting held at [illegible]. At the hour designated, H. Thiel[illegible] came forward on the rostrum [illegible] the first speaker of the even[illegible], Esq., who proceeded to ad[illegible] citizens in their native tongue [illegible]. Mr. Shultze, on making his [illegible] was greeted with rounds of [illegible] his remarks were very frequently [illegible] by vigorous demonstrations of ap[illegible] the part of his fellow-countrymen. [illegible] of Mr. Shultze's remarks, Mr. [illegible] young German attorney at law, [illegible] and spoke for some time. His [illegible] much applause, and from [illegible] seemed to meet with the [illegible] and approval of his lis[illegible] presented a number of [illegible] why a vote for Hayes and [illegible] a suffrage cast in support of [illegible] and an honest and econom[illegible] of public affairs. The [illegible] attended and an encour[illegible] of enthusiasm manifested. The [illegible] will tell at the polls next Tues[illegible].

[illegible] ROBBERY.—As two gentle[illegible] along Stark street about 10 [illegible] they discovered a man [illegible] walk opposite Cotter's barber [illegible] he was dead or very [illegible] of liquor. He was [illegible] in a few moments regained his [illegible] his name as J. G. Heller, [illegible] a few minutes before he left [illegible] Hall in a perfectly sober condi[illegible] he was passing the place [illegible] a man who had been walk[illegible] hit him on the back of the [illegible] dull instrument. He remem[illegible] one had fingers around his [illegible], and just before he was [illegible] his path, but he could [illegible] of the parties. Heller's [illegible] inside out when found, [illegible] the loss of $23 in coin besides a [illegible]. This is the most daring act of [illegible] that has come under our no[illegible] a pity that the perpetrators [illegible] to be described [illegible]. A brick was lying beside Hel[illegible], but no blood or gash was [illegible] that the blow was dealt [illegible].

[illegible]—MAN INJURED.—A young [illegible] Delermer was severely in[illegible] while leading a vicious horse [illegible] animal became restive and [illegible] to go forward, it reared up and [illegible] in the face with one hoof, [illegible] then trampled on the pros[illegible] the injured man, inflicting a [illegible] bruises. Delermer was re[illegible] when an examination was [illegible] injuries sustained. It is ascer[illegible] were fractured and so far [illegible] could determine, no [illegible] sustained. Delermer's in[illegible] regarded as dangerous, and he [illegible] be around in a few days.

[illegible] LEVELS.—Mr. R. A. Habersham [illegible] down the river yesterday [illegible] the purpose of running a line of [illegible] Portland and St. Helens bar [illegible] Willamette Slough. The object of [illegible] of levels, particularly in the Wil[illegible], is to obtain the exact fall be[illegible] and mouth of the slough—in [illegible] the width of the opening [illegible] the dyke which will be construct[illegible] head of the slough, so that when [illegible] river freezes over above St. [illegible] Astoria boats can enter the Wil[illegible] by way of the Willamette [illegible].

[illegible] THE ELECTION.—Last evening Os[illegible], the auctioneer, sold pools at the [illegible] Hotel, with the following re[illegible] $5; Williams, $2; Hayes, $10; Tilden, $20; Hayes, $20; Hayes, [illegible] $8; Hayes, $100; Tilden, $90; [illegible] Tilden, $1 50; Tilden, $2 50; [illegible] Hayes, $2 50; Tilden, $1—on [illegible] Tilden, $2 50; Hayes, $2—on New [illegible]. The above were all the pools that were [illegible] was little money afloat and every [illegible]. The sale of pools will be [illegible] this evening at the same place.

[illegible] PORTLAND SUNDAY SCHOOL.—At the [illegible] meeting of the North Portland [illegible] School, the following officers [illegible] for one year: F. S. Aiken, su[illegible]; J. F. Clarke, assistant; John [illegible]; Clara E. Northrup, treasurer; [illegible] F. Northrup, organist. A good de[illegible], we learn, has attended this [illegible] Taylor street. The new building [illegible] commenced, but two lots 100 by 100 [illegible] the corner of Eighth and D streets, have [illegible] and the zeal of the friends in [illegible] continues.

[illegible] THE BONANZA.—The Government [illegible] which started to come down the river [illegible] or more ago to go into winter quarters, [illegible] ordered by Col. Wilson to repair to [illegible] Bonanza and render what assist[illegible] necessary. The snag puller is now [illegible] alongside the sunken steamer at Dove's [illegible] at the foot of Rock Island. The Gov[illegible] will be put to no additional expense, [illegible] Willamette Transportation and Locks [illegible] agreed to pay for the wages of the [illegible] employed on the snag puller.

[illegible] MADE.—Surveyors of the O. & C. R. [illegible] were yesterday at work surveying a [illegible] track from the East Side depot to the [illegible] of Albina, the right of way for the pur[illegible] having been secured. The object of the [illegible], we understand, is to encourage the [illegible] grain warehouses, and thus save [illegible] delay of ferrying over so much [illegible] side of the river. The cost [illegible] be small, and old rails will be [illegible].

ST. VINCENT'S HOSPITAL.—From the monthly statement of St. Vincent's Hospital it is learned that up to the present date 453 patients have been admitted. Of this number 253 have been Catholics, and the remaining 200 members of the different religious denominations. During the month of October 40 patients were received, leaving the number at present in the hospital, 42.

NEW CISTERN.—A party under the superintendence of Mr. Wheeler, has just completed an additional cistern at Ediz Hook. The cistern formerly used at the station was found to be inadequate to furnish water during the summer season, and it was deemed expedient to construct another to supply the demand.

THE SMALLPOX IN PORTLAND.

The excitement created in the southern portion of the city over the very unwelcome discovery that two cases of the worst type of confluent smallpox had been developed, and brought to the notice of the health authorities, was heightened yesterday by the development of three new cases. We have taken considerable pains to ascertain all the facts connected with these cases, and herewith present them to the public.

At the time Mr. Cline was taken down with the disease, a widow lady named Bird and her little son, were living in the back portion of his house. Before it was ascertained that Cline had the contagion, Mrs. Bird and her son moved out of his house, and took up her residence somewhere in the southern part of the city. A day or two after Mrs. Bird left, a family named Cain, consisting of the husband, wife and several small children, moved into the apartments just vacated by the widow. Mr. Cain and his family occupied a part of Cline's house for some time, and of course was exposed constantly to the contagion. Some days ago, after it was known beyond all question that Cline had the varioloid, Cain and his family moved to a house situated near the corner of Clay and Front streets. Very soon after going into their new quarters, Mrs. Cain and two of the children were taken ill, and, as might reasonably and naturally be expected, the disease proves to be the smallpox. We are informed that the mother of Mrs. Cain visited her daughter and the family several times after they were taken sick, and before it was known that they had the smallpox. As the old lady was not vaccinated, it is very probable she also has contracted the contagion. We have not heard whether Mrs. Bird or her son have taken the disease yet; but as both were exposed to it there is little doubt but what they will be taken down also.

So far as is known at present writing only six cases have been developed; but as so many persons have been exposed to the disease, more cases are almost certain to come to the surface soon. The whole affair seems to have been unfortunately managed, although no censure can be attached to the official conduct of Chief Lappeus and the members of the committee on health and police. Since the cases were developed every possible precaution has been observed to prevent the further spread of the loathsome disease. One of Mr. Cline's sons died yesterday forenoon of the disease, and was buried last night some time. The other lad is not expected to live.

Yellow flags have been conspicuously displayed about the premises where the disease exists to warn the public of the danger of contagion. Such signals ought not to pass unheeded. We would strongly urge upon the public the imperative necessity of using every possible effort and observe every precaution to prevent a further spread of the disease. Unless prompt and immediate action is taken in this matter Portland may shortly be called upon to suffer such a scourge as the one through which San Francisco has just passed.

D., corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price, by medicated, electric lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense. His treatment is, in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous patients will attest. Is extraordinarily successful in treating female complaints.

FIRST PREMIUM HEALING SALVE.

Dr. Halpruner received the first premium at the State Fair for his patent healing salve and corn remedy. An infallible cure for cuts, burns, bruises, boils, felons, blood poison, white swelling, ulcers, sores, &c., also for corns and bunions. The salve is for sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box, and manufactured by the Doctor only. Corner of Eighth and Market streets. The Doctor operates on Corns and Bunions as usual.

CUT THIS OUT.

IT MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE.

There is no person living but what suffers more or less with Lung Diseases, Coughs, Colds or Consumption, yet some would die rather than pay 75 cents for a bottle of medicine that would cure them. DR. A. BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderous cures astonishes every one that try it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your Druggist and get a sample bottle for a bit and try it. Large size 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you. RELIGIOUS NOTES.

The following religious notes are collated from the Sentinel and Advocate:

Nearly fifty ladies are busy preparing articles for the forthcoming fair in aid of St. Vincent's Hospital. It will take place the last week in this month.

We notice by the Central New York Conference reports that G. W. Izer, formerly pastor of Taylor street M. E. church, has been reappointed as pastor of Hedding church, Elmira, New York.

Rev. Jos. Wythe, son of Dr. Wythe, formerly of Salem and Portland, is filling the pulpit of the Centennial M. E. church, Oakland, Cal. He is just commencing his second year and is greatly beloved by his congregation.

We are glad to learn that Bishop Seghers, of Victoria, returned safely from his visit to the west coast, where he visited Father Brabant, whom he found in excellent health and hopeful for the success of his Indian mission.

Rev R. Bentley and family are pleasantly located for the winter at the Centennial Hotel, Oakland, Cal., and letters from them send greetings to their many friends and speak quite hopeful of the outlook in their new charge for the coming year.

We learn this week we were misinformed touching Hall street church; also concerning Rev. John Flinn. Hall street has not decided to go into Taylor street, but a portion only of the society will remove their membership. Mr. Flinn has not dissolved connection with the charge, nor has he taken a charge in British Columbia; but is visiting friends with his daughter and will return soon.

The Marshall Lake mining camp near Lewiston, discovered late last season, and then believed to promise well, has, we learn, been worked during the early part of the present season, but not with the success at first anticipated. Scarcity of water and the short period of its duration in the spring was much of an impediment to successful mining.

Forestalling Disease.

When we see that death is so often the penalty paid for a fatuous disregard of the symptoms of approaching disease, should we not be warned against the folly of neglecting defensive measures when called for in our own case? Assuredly we should, and upon the first manifestation of ill health or decay of physical vigor, seek the aid of medicine. The fortifying influence upon the system of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters entitle that medicine of many virtues to the highest consideration as a preventive, as it cannot be too strongly recommended as a means of arresting the progress of malarious fevers, dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, kidney and bladder troubles, gout, rheumatism, and other disorders which in their incipiency are far more easily overcome than in their maturity—albeit, the great alterative has repeatedly demonstrated its power to vanquish them in their worst phases.

Again the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machines triumph over the world. The Centennial Commission have officially announced the awards and decreed for the New Wheeler & Wilson Machine two Diplomas of Honor and two Medals of Merit. This is a double victory, and the highest award which it was in the power of the Centennial authorities to bestow. No other sewing machine received such a recognition. Agency, 95 Third street.

An Irishman called at a drug store to get a bottle of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment for the Rheumatism; the druggist asked him in what part of the body it troubled him most. "Be me soul," said he, "I have it in ivery houl and corner of me."

For loss of cud, horn ail, red water in cows, loss of appetite, rot, or murrain in sheep; thick wind, broken wind, and roaring, and for all obstructions of the kidneys in horses use Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders.

DO NOT, IF YOU ARE SO UNFORTUNATE as to have bruised, sprained, cut or burned yourself, use an astringent lotion or liniment, but bathe the hurt part with a solution of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP which is far better.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM preserves and restores the complexion; removes freckles, tan and sallowness; makes the skin soft, white and delicate. Its application cannot be detected.

FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 3, 1876.

DON'T DRINK TO-NIGHT.

I left my mother at the door,
My sister by her side.
They clasped their hands, and loving looks
Forbade their doubts to hide.
When the moon brought out her light.
And my loving mother whispered me,
"Don't drink, my boy, to-night."

Long years have passed away since then.
My jetty curls are gray,
But, oh! those words are with me yet,
And will not pass away.
I see my mother's loving face
With goodness' radiant light,
And hear her words ring in my ears,
"Don't drink, my boy, to-night."

My mother is now resting sweet
In the graveyard on the hill,
But her kind words come back to me
And haunt my memory still.
I've often, often passed the cup;
Oh, then my heart was right!
Because I've heard the warning words,
"Don't drink, my boy, to night."

I've now passed down the road of life,
And soon my race is run;
A mother's warning listened to,
An immortal crown is won.
Oh, mothers! with your humble smile,
Look on your boy so bright,
And say, as you alone can say,
"Don't drink, my boy, to-night."

Those words will prove a warning when,
In the thorny path of life,
The boy is in the tempter's wiles
And warring in the strife
They would will stop the morning cup
And revelry at night,
By whispering back a mother's voice,
"Don't drink, my boy, to night."

[illegible] DEMOCRATIC IDEA OF REFORM.

[New York Times.]

We fear that the devotion of the Democratic party to the cause of civil service reform has not received as much attention as it deserves. The people hear a great deal of vague talk from the Democratic orators and editors about the [illegible] of reform, but these oracles pro[illegible] forget to say of just what their idea [illegible] consists. Happily we are able to [illegible] the omission from no less a source [illegible] fountain of pure Democratic doc- [illegible] Louis platform itself. That doc- [illegible] up the whole Democratic creed [illegible] in the declaration that "the [illegible] reform must be the people's choice [illegible] men from another party." This [illegible] stroke. It is worthy of the cun[illegible] of the great Democratic Reformer [illegible] it is not sufficient that the people [illegible] choose honest men for the public [illegible] that would not comport with the Democratic idea of reform—but the honest must be "from another party." As there is only one other party that amounts to much, it follows that in order to have that true "re[illegible]" which is declared with such frequent [illegible] to be "necessary," we must fill the [illegible] with Democrats. The choice of [illegible] will not answer the stern [illegible] the Democracy for reform. Ordi[illegible] would be content simply with [illegible] Simmons would call "unre[illegible] men, but these thorough-going [illegible] have set their hearts on the still [illegible] achievement of finding honest [illegible] for the public offices. In our [illegible] can see the great reformer going [illegible] the Five Points and Mackerelville like [illegible] Diogenes, with a lantern in one [illegible] a bottle of smelling salts in the [illegible] for the 30,000 honest Demo[illegible] are to be his aids in the work of re[illegible] laid on the assurance [illegible] new crop of public officers [illegible] another party—to wit: [illegible] party—justifies the fear that [illegible] more importance [illegible] Democratic mind than the [illegible] they shall be honest. Certainly [illegible] to gratify the keen longing [illegible] for a nibble at the public [illegible] the guise of reform could not have [illegible] In the first place, the honest [illegible] all be Democrats, which is the es[illegible] Then the assumption runs [illegible] whole platform that Democracy [illegible] with honesty, so that a man [illegible] prove his Democracy to establish [illegible] brings us at length to the [illegible] of reform which [illegible] the average Democrat, which is, that [illegible] radicals ought to be kicked [illegible] put in. The platform [illegible] result by rather a roundabout [illegible] it conveys the right idea [illegible] mind.

[illegible] form elsewhere declares that [illegible] should not be subject to [illegible] election. This means, of [illegible] taken in connection with the [illegible] for a complete upsetting of [illegible] at the coming election, that it [illegible] that there should be a change [illegible] which result in turning [illegible] out and putting Demo[illegible] Democratic capacity [illegible] the [illegible] for a change at [illegible] The platform also asserts that [illegible] ought not to be "a prize [illegible] the ballot-box," but, as it else[illegible] the Democrats to fight desperate[illegible] box this fall for the self-same [illegible] can only conclude that, like Rip Van [illegible] "doesn't count this time."

[illegible] Tilden takes up the strain of re[illegible] the platform leaves off, but there [illegible] his letter to militate against our [illegible] of the Democratic creed. He [illegible] that "usufruct" of reform [illegible] to the exclusive benefit of the [illegible] He shows no conception [illegible] the true causes of the [illegible] of the public servic, [illegible] in much greater degree than [illegible] the Republican party came into [illegible] with effects only, not with [illegible] that two evils infest the [illegible] the notion that the public ser[illegible] the benefit of the office holders, [illegible] of the official class into a [illegible] mercenaries. These are not [illegible] The true cause of the low [illegible] public service is the introduction [illegible] into the rank and file of the [illegible] the usurpation of the appointing [illegible] men. Of a comprehension [illegible] evils Gov. Tilden gives [illegible] He panders to the Democratic [illegible] and holds out the delusive [illegible] the evils of the civil service may [illegible] by good resolutions on the part [illegible] He might as well try to [illegible] on the public debt out of his [illegible] or to stop a locomotive at full [illegible] with an injunction. He does not see, [illegible] wish to seem to see, that the [illegible] necessary to a real reform is a [illegible] of system. He speaks of a [illegible] system, indeed, but only as some[illegible] after the whole service shall [illegible] pulled to pieces. Moreover, in or[illegible] "delusive expectations" [illegible] he asserts that the Executive [illegible] only be delivered by a constitutional [illegible] from the great temptation to mis[illegible] the power of patronage." If, therefore, [illegible] should be elected President, and should do [illegible] reform the civil service, but should [illegible] to the temptation to misuse the patron[illegible] the fault would not be his but the Consti[illegible] The Constitution has been used by the Democracy in times past to "cover a mul[illegible] of sins;" but this would be subjecting [illegible] covering capacity of that venerable docu[illegible] to a tension that might break it altoge[illegible] On the whole, we may conclude that [illegible] of a real reform of the civil ser[illegible] under Democratic rule would not be very [illegible]

The occurrence of fair weather gave a new impetus to outdoor operations in nearly all departments of business, and should it continue for a few weeks it will materially increase the aggregate volume of the fall trade.

The local money market is working a little closer under an increased call from produce exporters, though no appreciation in the prevailing rates is noticeable. The movement of the grain crop during October was larger, perhaps, than in any former month, and though there were not so many ships loaded as in other months, the transactions in wheat are reported to have exceeded those of any similar period in Oregon's commercial history. This large movement of course drew a corresponding amount of capital from the ordinary channels of circulation and brought about a closer feeling which was not so generally felt until the month closed and the regular settlements were called for. There is, however, no complaint of any general scarcity of funds for the maintenance of legitimate trade, and with moderate remittances from the interior and aid from outside the State, the market in a financial point of view is working smoothly.

It is reported that the Oregon Iron Works, against which a petition in bankruptcy has been filed, will probably be able to satisfy its creditors and to resume operations shortly. We trust the report will prove true, for its permanent suspension would be a positive loss to the city and State; as is the stoppage of every other enterprise, compelled to close on account of a lack of patronage or the burden of the Oregon rate of interest upon the investment.

The local banks are doing an increased amount of business, and the activity manifested over their counters denotes at least a very large degree of life in other departments of trade.

The wholesale and jobbing houses of the city have enjoyed a large volume of general trade during the week under review, and orders have been received from points which show that this market is being patronized by a greater scope of country than heretofore, and the new buyers are by no means few. Prices for imported merchandise show no important changes.

Wheat.

The market in this department manifests a great deal of life, and the aggregate volume of transactions is very heavy. Wheat is coming forward to the interior a little more freely, and the agents of some of our exporters report considerable quantities purchased during the week. The Walla Walla country is sending down a very important proportion of the receipts, and the wheat from that section appears of better quality than it was in former seasons. The cars and boats also bring [illegible] quantities from the upper Willamette, so that vessels are receiving rather better dispatch than was anticipated a fortnight ago. Prices have not been put down in the local market, though both European and San Francisco quotations are a shade lower. Advices from San Francisco denote that exporters are not urging that market even at the somewhat reduced rates. The quoted rates for freights being no higher, this fact indicates that no confidence, by operators there, is felt in the future. Indeed, this feeling appears to be very general on this coast and also at the East—if our exchanges report the market correctly. The heavy losses sustained last year were such as to create a greater degree of caution. There can be no doubt but trade depression throughout Europe has produced not a little in the general lessened consumption, as it causes all classes to economize. And again, the successful importing into England and Ireland of American beef has given to that country a cheaper article of food in the meat line, which operates to a certain extent against wheat consumption. The statistics given by us last month of imports into Great Britain for the season of 1875-6 compared with the season of 1874-5, shows that the corn imported in 1874 5 was not quite seventeen and a quarter million hundred-weights (cwt equal to 112 lbs) whereas for the season of 1875 6 the amount was thirty four and and one-third million hundred-weights. This goes to show they are running on cheaper food. This year the corn crop in the East is unusually large and prices rule comparatively low, and therefore we can reasonably look forward to heavy exports to England, thereby reducing the consumption of wheat.

OBJECTS.

This Savings Bank has been formed at the desire and under the auspices of thirty-one gentlemen, citizens of Oregon and Washington Territory who have become stockholders therein along with certain other gentlemen in Scotland to supply a want hitherto much felt, namely an institution where similar to those in California, the working, farming and other classes of Oregon and Washington Territory may from time to time deposit their various savings along with the Bank's own capital for investment in Oregon and Washington Territory [to which the Bank's operations are limited] secured from Mortgages over City Properties, Farming and other Lands for the purpose thereby of assisting to develop the industries of the North Pacific coast.

The Bank's Directors and Officers in Oregon having had considerable experience in finance and real estate securities, their policy will be to guard depositors' moneys and the stockholders' capital by loaning only on first class securities, high interest being a secondary consideration. The Bank does not therefore seek to employ its funds in a commercial banking business, confining its operations strictly to those securities with which its Directors are familiarly acquainted, such as real estate loans, advances on bonds, assignments and similar securities which are not fluctuating in value; hence no loans will be made on Promissory Notes alone, or Bills of Exchange and such like.

Security to Depositors.

The security for repayment of Depositors' moneys is two fold:

1st. Not only the mortgages, assignments, bonds and other pledges on which the Bank's deposits are carefully loaned and the real estate secured thereby, which must be located in Oregon and Washington Territory; but also.

2d. The Bank's own $300 000 capital specially pledged for the safety of depositors, in order that all losses (if any) shall be made therefrom, thus forming a double security for depositors' moneys.

No charge for entrance fee or pass books,
Deposits received from $2 50 and upwards,
Rates of interest on application.
Hours, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Certificate of Incorporation, Constitution, Articles of Association, Regulations and By laws for depositors, may be seen at the Bank's office.
